Vows Jews Will Never Forget Adolf Eichmann

By RELMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's attorney general pointed a finger at Adolf Eichmann in court today and vowed that Jewry always will remember him as the man who succeeded in part in carrying out the Nazi plan to exterminate Europe's 11 million Jews.

"There is no pardon and there can be no forgetting," Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner cried out, his voice ringing with emotion.

While Eichmann looked on woodenly from his bullet-proof prisoner's dock, Hausner firmly rejected the defense contention that Israel lacks the right to try the accused architect of extermination.

"If we don't try Eichmann," he told the three-judge panel, "it is quite possible that he will not be tried at all, and a crime without precedent would not be punished."

Throughout much of the second day of the trial, Hausner hammered persistently at defense challenges regarding legality of the proceedings.

If Hausner's impassioned words had any effect upon Eichmann, the defendant's expression failed to show it as he stared at the attorney general.

Eichmann is being tried on Israel's charge that he committed "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity" as chief of the Jewish affairs section of the Nazi Gestapo. Israel holds him responsible in the death of about six million Jews.

Eichmann's defense counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius, had demanded that Eichmann be brought before an international court.

"What international court, may I ask?" Hausner asked. "The International Court in The Hague has no jurisdiction over individuals."

Hausner's outburst came in the second morning of Eichmann's trial on Israeli charges of "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity." One of these is the crime of genocide—mass murder. The state alleges that Eichmann, as chief of the Jewish Affairs Section of the Nazi Gestapo, bears direct responsibility for the slaughter of an estimated six million Jews.

Hausner reminded the three-judge court that in 2,000 years of Jewish history there had been previous attempts to wipe the Jewish people off the face of the earth.

Then, suddenly raising his voice and stabbing the air with his left hand, he said: "There is no pardon and there can be no forgetting."

Eichmann looked a little haggard when he came into court on this second day. His wispy hair was slightly rumpled. Dark circles ringed his eyes. He coughed frequently, blew his nose, and removed his spectacles to wipe his eyes.

Through most of the morning session, he sat quite still, cupping his chin on his right hand. He made only one or two penciled notes on the paper in front of him.

The only time he showed any animation was in the moment before the judges came into the courtroom. Then, speaking through the private microphone in the glass-enclosed prisoner's dock, he exchanged a few words with his chief defense lawyer, Dr. Robert Servatius of Cologne, West Germany.

Mary Lou Park

Delta Kappa Gama Society's annual scholarship award of $75 has been presented to Mary Lou Park, an honor graduate and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Park. She received the award at a recent Arkansas Student Education Association meeting at Little Rock. She was chosen for outstanding work as president of the local Future Teachers chapter and as treasurer of the state organization and a member of the state executive committee. Mary Lou has been very active in school affairs as well as taking a leading role in the High School band activities.

Race Shadow Cast Over Centennial

By NEIL GILBRIDS

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A racial quarrel cast a shadow over national Civil War Centennial Commission proceedings today.

New Jersey delegates called for removal of the chairman, Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III (Ret.), for sponsoring a Southern speaker "who grossly insulted us."

The threat to try to depose the 60-year-old grandson of the famed Union general came at the height of the three-day round of centennial luncheons, banquets, receptions and ceremonies. The firing on Ft. Sumter, first battle of the Civil War 100 years ago, will be re-enacted tonight.

The first oratorical bomb in the verbal civil war was exploded unexpectedly by Charleston-born Ashley Halsey, an associate editor of the Saturday Evening Post.

Halsey's claim that New Jersey practices racial discrimination led to a New Jersey protest at the national commission's banquet Tuesday night.

Vice chairman Joseph Dempsey of the New Jersey Centennial Commission said he wanted to ask the national commission "to determine who is responsible for this pathetic mismanagement and ask the President of the United States to remove him."

Grant won applause when he adjourned the banquet without yielding the floor to the New Jersey chairman, Donald Flamm. Dempsey said the protest would be put in a formal resolution to the commission's business session today.

The New Jersey delegation, whose Negro member caused President Kennedy to order national sessions held at the integrated Charleston naval base, charged earlier "there is ample evidence" that Grant should not be running the program of the congressionally created national commission.

The Negro is Madeline A. Williams, whose husband is New Jersey state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

JFK to Change the U.S. Policy on Red China

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — In a reversal of long-standing policy, President Kennedy's administration has decided not to oppose U.N. debate next fall on Red China's bid for a seat in the United Nations, informed diplomats reported today.

Instead the U.S. government is working on new strategy to keep Peiping out of the world body—at least until 1962. The diplomats said Kennedy told British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at their meeting last week he needs at least 12 months to prepare Americans to accept the Red Chinese into the world organization.

The informants, familiar with some details of President Kennedy's talks with Macmillan in Washington last week, gave this account:

Macmillan told Kennedy the West is running out of votes in the United Nations to keep the question of seating Communist China off the U.N. assembly agenda and that an attempt next fall to prevent a full debate on the issue will carry the danger of a humiliating defeat.

Kennedy generally agreed. He indicated Washington, too, thinks the moratorium cannot be sustained. But it emerged clearly that he considers the American people need more time in which to accustom themselves to the idea of Peiping's entry into the United Nations.

Record Shows Duckett Paid for Equipment

Monroe Kent's taxpayers' suit in Chancery Court against former Judge U. G. Garrett and Duckett Equipment Co. seeks recovery of a Caterpillar D-7 tractor together with a fair rental on equipment from November 1, 1959.

The complaint charges that U. G. Garrett as county judge delivered and sought to convey the Caterpillar tractor and equipment in question to William Duckett Sr. in an unlawful and illegal attempt to sell said equipment; and that there was no entry of any kind in the records of Hempstead County, Ark. evidencing this alleged sale until on or about the 5th day of December, 1960.

Actually what the complaint charges is that the transaction was illegal.

The Star reported that Mr. Duckett had made no payment. However, a further check with the county treasurer's office shows that Mr. Duckett made three payments for the equipment in question. Harry Hawthorne, treasurer, shows payments of $500 on Oct. 28, 1959; $500 on December 7, 1959 and $500 on Jan. 27, 1960. There is no doubt the payments were for the equipment in question, the treasurer said.

And a check with the County Clerk's office reveals a court order filed December 5, 1960 showing William Duckett swapped a winch truck valued in the order at $3,500, to the county. The order also notes the $1,500 payments made by Mr. Duckett to the county and the truck were in payment for a Caterpillar tractor, a total of $5,000.

Senior Class Selects a Mystery Play

"Creeping Shadows," a three-act comedy-mystery, has been selected by the Senior Class of Hope High School for production April 27 and 28.

From the pen of Germaine Hane, "Creeping Shadows" is under the direction of Mrs. B. B. McPherson and Mr. Terry Huckabee, practice teacher. The play is unusual in that the comedy and mystery elements are equally divided.

Handling the comedy from the cast of twenty-four are Tommy Jones (Jack Hunter), Barbara Caston (Mrs. Frazier), Brenda Mitchell (Cherry), and Larry Gaines (Mr. Wade). Others who contribute are Peggy Lloyd (Mrs. Truesdale), whose daughter (Snooky) played by Violet Tommeaker completely baffles her.

The play will afford you an evening of unparalleled fun and mystification.

Oil Firm Wants Waterworks Lease

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — An oil company wants to lease Conway's city water supply source.

Al Hays of Shell Oil Co. told the City Council Tuesday night his firm had leased land around Lake Beaverfork just north of here and now wants a 10-year lease on the 965-acre lake area itself.

He said there would be no drilling on lake property itself, but that holes might be drilled under the property from an angle from adjacent land. Shell proposed to pay a $3 bonus plus $1 an acre for the lease, with the city to get a 1/4 barrel royalty on any oil removed.

There are no producing wells in Faulkner County now.

The council directed attorneys to study the proposal.

The council also said it wanted to be sure there would not be any pollution problem.

Arkansas Escapees Recaptured

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — An Arkansas man and two other men who fled Menard Penitentiary near Chester last Thursday are reported back in custody.

Warden Ross Randolph of Menard said Robert Gibbons, agent in charge of the FBI office in Springfield, Ill., told him Tuesday night the three had been captured, two in Tennessee and one in Texas.

Randolph quoted Gibbons as saying that Eddie Wilson, 21, of Blytheville, Ark., and Joe D. Cabtree, 24, of Normal, Ill., arrested by local authorities in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Clyde Lowry, 27, of Quincy, Ill., was apprehended by FBI agents in Laredo, Tex., all Tuesday night.

The three were working on a yard detail outside the walls when they bolted, broke in a prison employee's car and drove off.

The guard in charge of the work detail, Homer Brayfield, of Chester, a 10-year employee of the prison, resigned the next day, at Randolph's request.

All three prisoners were short termers, eligible for parole or discharge within a year.

Cabtree was serving a 1-2 year term for forgery, Lowry 1-3 years for armed robbery and Wilson 1-4 years for car theft and robbery.

Randolph said he would seek to have them returned to face state charges of car theft and jail break.

Details of the captures were not available.

Practical Druggist Law Is Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 1955 law defining a practical druggist as one who has been in business for 10 years or more at that time was upheld Tuesday by the attorney general's office.

The opinion was requested by Fort Smith Municipal Judge James L. Langston who questioned the constitutionality of the law. Langston said strict enforcement could force a person out of business.

The attorney general's office also ruled that a county is required to pay maintenance costs of a person ordered by the courts to the State Hospital for observation.

Lincoln County, Clerk H. A. Goyen of Star City had sought the opinion.

A county cannot be required to pay in excess of 90 days under such circumstances, the attorney general's office said.

Adenauer and Kennedy Talk Greater Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today discussed ways of achieving greater unity in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President and Adenauer conferred for 90 minutes at the White House. Also at the meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West Germany's foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano.

After the session, the first of what is to be a series of conferences, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen:

"The chancellor and the President had a personal discussion for about an hour and a half's duration on the problems of NATO and on ways to achieve greater unity in NATO."

"The talks this morning were in general a continuation of discussions held between the chancellor and Dean Acheson in Germany."

Acheson, who served as secretary of state in the Harry S. Truman administration, is a Kennedy adviser on NATO problems.

Salinger said Kennedy and Adenauer also reviewed world problems on a generalized basis.

Originally the morning meeting of Kennedy, Adenauer, Rusk and Von Brentano was to be followed immediately by a conference of those four and a large group of other U.S. and West German officials.

But Salinger announced the follow-up session had been postponed until Thursday.

Sailor on Leave Killed in Wreck

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — A sailor on leave was killed Tuesday night when his car, plunged off a wooden bridge into about 15 feet of water in Bayou Bartholomew near here.

The body of Wallace Lee Cummings, 31, was found in his car when it was pulled from the water after about four hours of work by law officers and a Civil Defense unit from Dumas.

State Trooper Scott Brown said Cummings' car hit the heavy wooden bridge railing 105 feet from the entrance of the 338-foot long bridge. It ripped out 96 feet of the 6 by 6 inch railing.

Coroner Raymond Stephenson said death apparently was due to drowning. Cause of the accident was not determined, but officers said Cummings' car could have slipped off the wooden planks used as tracks and gone out of control.

Arthur Winkle, who lives about 100 yards from the bridge, discovered the accident. He said he heard a crash during a heavy rain and windstorm. When he investigated he found the railing gone, but could not find a car.

Cummings was visiting a sister, Mrs. L. H. Edney of Monticello. The accident was on the Monticello-Winchester road about 20 miles east of Monticello. It was 10 or 12 miles north of a bridge on which a similar accident took the life of a man last week.

Russia Sends Space Man Around Earth, Returns Him Safely

U.S. Has More But Russians Do It First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. rocket and satellite launches have exceeded Soviet firings by almost 3-1. There were 27 American space objects orbiting the earth in late 1960 and only 10 Soviet. The United States then had two spheres whizzing around the sun and the Soviet Union one.

But Soviet space feats have consistently been more spectacular and have been "firsts" starting with man's first scientific thrust beyond his earthly moorings, the original Sputnik sent up by Moscow on Oct. 4, 1957.

Sputnik I weighed 184 pounds, compared with later space objects weighing several tons, and reached a peak orbital limit of 588 miles into space.

Soviet scientists followed up that launching exactly a month later with another even more astounding. They sent up Sputnik II with a dog, Laika, aboard the 1,119-pound sphere. The satellite zoomed spaceward to a distance of 1,645 miles but burned up when it re-entered the earth's atmosphere and the dog perished.

Sputnik III went up May 15, 1958, with 2,019 pounds to a maximum height of 1,175 miles. It burned up in the atmosphere more than two years later—Aug. 6, 1960.

The next Soviet rocket on Aug. 27, 1958, sent up two dogs in a still heavier object—3,718 pounds. They did not go as high—280 miles—but were brought back down alive.

The Soviets ventured farther out into space during 1957. A "Lunik" space rocket passed the moon Jan. 2 and went into orbit around the sun five days later. It weighed 3,392 pounds.

On July 2 a dog and a rabbit took the Soviets into the 2-ton payload class when they rode a 4,400-pound sphere out and back. Lunik II hit the moon Sept. 13. The 3,324-pound object staked a claim by carrying a hammer with the Soviet coat of arms. Lunik III circled the moon Oct. 4 in a long bridge. It ripped out 96 feet of the 6 by 6 inch railing.

The opinion was requested by Fort Smith Municipal Judge James L. Langston who questioned the constitutionality of the law. Langston said strict enforcement could force a person out of business.

The attorney general's office also ruled that a county is required to pay maintenance costs of a person ordered by the courts to the State Hospital for observation.

Russia Beats Redstone By 2 Weeks

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Redstone rocket which the United States had hoped would boost the first man into space stands on a launching pad here. The Soviet Union beat its firing date by at least two weeks.

"So close, yet so far," commented a technician who is helping groom the Redstone to send one of America's astronauts on a short suborbital flight, hopefully late this month or early in May.

"If we hadn't had those troubles last fall and on the chimp and Little Joe shots this year, we might have made it," the technician said.

"But you have to give the Russian scientists credit. They've accomplished a remarkable breakthrough."

Project Mercury officials had hoped to achieve a manned Redstone flight last December or January. A series of launch mishaps necessitated additional launchings to qualify the system.

On Nov. 8, a space capsule failed to separate from a Little Joe rocket fired from Wallops Island, Va., in a test of the escape system.

Two weeks later, a Redstone fizzled because of a faulty connection which caused the escape tower to fire, leaving the rocket and capsule on the pad. This had to be repeated before Ham the space chimpanzee was sent up on a short trip Jan. 31.

An engine thrust regulator stuck on the chimp shot, creating excessive thrust which lofted the chimp, Ham, higher and further than intended. Another Redstone was fired to prove out corrections made in the regulator, again delaying the manned trip.

Another setback occurred March 18 when a repeat of the Little Joe escape test fizzled. Another try is set for about April 20 and must succeed before the Redstone now on the pad hurls aloft an astronaut.

Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee in Washington Tuesday that the earliest possible date for the manned launching is about April 28.

Dr. Martin C. Hawkins of Searcy outlined his plan in an address prepared for a meeting of the Southwestern Surgical Congress, of which he is vice president.

Dr. Hawkins' proposal calls for channeling the observations and experiences of scientists the world over into a central clearing house, where the information will be sorted and classified and then made available to all cancer research teams.

"I wish to emphasize that it is simply actual observations and experiences relative to cancer which I am hopeful of getting, and not deductions," said Dr. Hawkins.

"Deductions and conclusions will be made by expert teams from a study of all the material after it is classified. In short, that of real value would be new material which has not been run through the mills of the research laboratories."

"The breakthrough in the cancer problem quite possibly will come from a heretofore unknown person or source."

1st Astronaut Reports He Is 'Feeling Fine'

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — The world's first astronaut orbited the globe for more than an hour today, reported back that he was feeling fine, and then returned safely to receive the plaudits of scientists and political leaders alike.

He was in the air an hour and 48 minutes, including an hour and 20 minutes in orbit.

A five-ton spaceship carried Maj. Yuri Alekseyevich Gagarin, 27, father of two daughters.

He took off at 9:07 a.m., Moscow time and returned at 10:55 a.m., Soviet officials reported.

The orbit reached a maximum of 188 miles and dipped to a minimum of 110 miles above the earth before descent to a prearranged target in the Soviet Union. Launching and landing sites were not disclosed in the statement by the Soviet government and the Communist party.

The route of the spaceship, named Vostok (east), also was not disclosed, but Moscow radio said it received messages from Gagarin twice during the morning—one sent while he was over Africa and the other from over South America.

The spaceship, "having rounded the globe, safely returned to the sacred soil of our homeland, the land of the Soviets," the announcement said.

The Soviet victory over the United States in the contest to put a man into space was hailed by Soviet citizens from Premier Khrushchev to workmen in the Moscow streets.

A detailed statement was read by Moscow radio's star newscaster, Levitan. He read it three times. Then the radio broke into music, with songs glorifying Soviet space achievements.

The pilot's report that he was well behaved over loudspeakers in the Soviet capital, which was blanketed with a heavy April snowfall.

Wants World to Fight Cancer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An Arkansas physician today proposed worldwide doctor participation in cancer research as a means toward unlocking "the treasure chest where the solution to the cancer problem is hidden."

Dr. Martin C. Hawkins of Searcy outlined his plan in an address prepared for a meeting of the Southwestern Surgical Congress, of which he is vice president.

Dr. Hawkins' proposal calls for channeling the observations and experiences of scientists the world over into a central clearing house, where the information will be sorted and classified and then made available to all cancer research teams.

Can Deduct Time Away From Home

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — In a 2-1 decision, the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that a patient and his family's living expenses are deductible from his federal income tax if a physician orders him away from home.

The court ruled Tuesday that Robert M. Bilder, a Newark, N.J., attorney, properly deducted transportation and living expenses for himself, his wife and his daughter for the winters of 1954-55-56 when he went to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for several months on doctor's orders.

Judge Harry E. Kalodner rejected the view of Internal Revenue Service which held that Bilder was entitled only to travel costs. The U.S. Tax Court said Bilder could also deduct his own living expenses but not those of his wife.

Kalodner said that Bilder, suffering from inward stress and tension, needed his family and that his wife "acted more or less as a nurse."

radios to listen to news of the historic achievement.

Moscow radio and all other Soviet propaganda organs went into a demonstration of patriotism for the Soviet Union and the Communist system. And in Washington, President Kennedy issued a statement congratulating the Soviet Union on "an outstanding technical achievement."

James E. Webb, chief of the U.S. space agency, called it a splendid achievement and expressed hope the Russians will share their findings with the world. The United States is planning to shoot a man 300 miles through space in May—but will not try to place him into orbit. The U.S. orbit try may come later this year.

The space flight came as no great surprise. Soviet scientists have been freely predicting it in recent months, especially after last month's twin launchings of satellites.

The flights of the two March satellites, as described by the Russians, were similar to Gagarin's spaceship in orbit time and weight.

Within the past few days Moscow has been flooded with rumors of a man in space.

Gagarin, rocketed from a position as an obscure army officer to a national hero in a matter of hours, was heading for Moscow aboard a jet plane.

Soviet scientists watched Gagarin during his flight by television and he was in constant radio communication with a control station, the Soviets said. Messages from him that he was well were broadcast.

According to Tass, the Soviet news agency, Gagarin on landing said: "Please report to the party and government and personally to Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev that the landing was normal. I feel well, have no injuries or bruises."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev replied with a message of congratulations telling Gagarin the "entire Soviet people acclaim your valiant feat which will be remembered down the centuries as an example of courage, gallantry and heroism in the name of service to mankind."

In a statement boasting that the Soviet Union, "the land of triumphant socialism," had "opened the new era in the development of mankind," the Soviet government and the party issued an appeal for peace to all countries and called on all people "to make an all-out effort to put an end to the arms race, to effect universal and complete disarmament, to ensure world peace."

"We place the Soviet achievements not in the service of war, but in the service of peace and the security of the peoples," the statement said.

CHAPTER XXXIII

The Belle Union, built against the east slope of the Gulch, seemed on casual appraisal to be just a one-story building. At the rear, due to the slope, there was a sort of step-up addition which was Hogan Geer's living quarters. Here Price Ringgold found him.

Ringgold made no effort to hide a grimace of distaste. "You hear about that tinhorn, MacSwain?"

Geer, fussing with a coffee pot on the stove, came around.

"What about him?"

"He's dead. Benten to death. Those Spooners—"

A glint of surprise showed in Geer's eyes, then he said callously, "Well, that's what you wanted, wasn't it?"

"I never said to kill him. I said to run him out of Midas Hill."

Geer shrugged. "There's some who won't run."

"Waddell is on the prod. I met up with him at the Hill House and somebody's going to get hurt over this—hurt bad!"

Ringgold took a turn up and down the room.

Geer's black eyes showed a narrowing shrewdness. "He must have said things to you?"

"He said plenty. You've made a lot of talk about not stirring up the law and order urge in this camp. Well, it could be stirred up now—and good!"

Geer shrugged again. "Not necessarily. What if Waddell is on the prod? He's just one man and will be taken care of. The camp itself isn't going to get worked up over the tinhorn."

"You can quit worrying about Waddell. He's to be taken care of. It's all settled."

"Whoever goes after him better be good," Ringgold warned. "Because I got a feeling about that fellow."

"They'll be good enough," Geer said. "Now this tinhorn affair is over and done with. Nobody but us knows for sure who did it. And from now on, we don't know anything about it, either."

On Summit Street, Tim Roach, for the second time this morning, sought Chris Waddell and found him still in the office. As was his direct, blunt way, the corral owner wasted no time in coming to the point.

"Look another look at where the ruckus happened, and come up with this. It was most hidden in the dust, but I happened to catch sight of it. Figgered you'd be interested."

The object he laid on the desk in front of Waddell was a silver dollar. It had been long carried by someone, for it was badly worn and the date, 1884, was barely discernable. It was still round but not truly flat, being cupped and twisted, as if at one time it had been struck a violent blow. Close to the edge, above the profile, a small hole had been drilled, and even the rim of this showed wear.

"Looks like somebody's luck piece," Waddell decided.

"You look careful," said Roach, "you see where it looks like it might have been linked on to something?" — say a watch chain. And by all the signs, the gambler feller put up a real fight. Easy for that dollar to tear loose at a time like that."

"Yes," murmured Waddell. "I don't recall seeing anything of the sort on MacSwain. But somebody in this camp might have seen it before on someone."

The corral owner turned to the door, hesitated, went out. And almost immediately came back in again, to face Waddell half defiantly.

"It's no use," he said gruffly. "You don't need to look no further than me to find out who that luck piece belongs to. I know."

Now keepin' a shut mouth may be the mark of a smart man, but there's times when it can also make him a coward. The dollar belongs to Elvie Spooner!

"Ah!" exclaimed Waddell softly. "That does it, Tim. You're a good man!"

"I'm a mouthy old fool," Roach growled. Again Tim Roach left, and this time he kept going.

Chris Waddell got to his feet and stood for some time, staring down at the coin. The settled anger in him was quickening. These two, he knew, from former experience, would presently combine into a cold purpose which would carry him the length and breadth of Ute Street and through every dive and deadfall and dark noisome corner until he came up with those he sought.

Elvie Spooner's luck piece, eh? Well, there were two kinds of luck, and this time Elvie had used up all his good kind. Signs at the scene of the attack had indicated at least two took part. Elvie and Lee Spooner.

Buff Spooner, what about him? In the turmoil of the morning he had not thought of Buff. He did so now, recalling the ultimatum he had laid down to Buff last night. Be out of Midas Hill by sunup this day—or never leave it. Had Buff followed orders? If not, wherever he found Elvie and Lee, there also would he find Buff. Well, he had looked at heavy odds before.

Bums, Pirates, Cards and Reds Turn in Wins

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

An infield hit by Charlie Neal off Robin Roberts leg led the way to a three-run inning and gave Los Angeles a 6-2 victory over Philadelphia Tuesday night. That put the Dodgers in a first place tie with Pittsburgh's world champion Pirates, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds as the National League opened the 1961 baseball season.

In the other NL openers, all afternoon contests, the Pirates were back in the old groove, coming from behind on Bill Virdon's

Wants 2 Party System in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Young Democrat leader says Arkansas should create its own image and not align itself with the South. He also called for a "good two-party system" in the state.

Milas H. Hale of Little Rock, regional director of the Young Democrats of America and an assistant state attorney general, said the South has an unfavorable national image.

He told a meeting of Women Members of the Democratic Party Tuesday that Arkansas should align itself with Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas rather than with the Deep South.

Hale also criticized Arkansans and other Southern congressmen for voting with northern Republican conservatives on many issues. He said this weakens the state's standing in the national party.

Arkansas' image, Hale said, is of "a strict one-party state, controlled by radical segregationists, ultra-conservative in nature, with a low mentality."

He said Arkansas must get rid of this image.

The state's segregation problems, including Little Rock's integration crisis of 1957-58, helped create this image, he said.

three-run homer with two out in the ninth for an 9-7 victory at San Francisco. St. Louis defeated Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 2-1 on Daryl Spencer's solo home run in the 10th inning, and Cincinnati, rolling on homers by Frank Robinson and Wally Post, walloped Chicago's Cubs 7-1.

In the American League, the Minnesota Twins rocked the defending champion New York Yankees 6-0 on the three-hit pitching of Pedro Ramos, and the new Los Angeles Angels surprised the Baltimore Orioles 7-2 as Eli Grba turned back the Birds with a six-hitter. Cleveland rapped Detroit 9-5, and the Kansas City A's defeated Boston 5-2. Chicago's White Sox and Washington were idle.

Roberts, setting a NL record with his 12th opening day assignment for the Phils, wound up with a 5-6 record for inaugurals after the three-run Dodger seventh. Pinch-hitter Ron Fairly capped that rally with a two-run double, and rookie Carl Warwick drove in the final run with a pinch single, following two walks by Philie reliever Ken Lehman, in the eighth.

The Dodgers started fast, scoring in the first inning when speedster Maury Wills singled, went to second on a sacrifice, and then scampered home on a single by Tommy Davis. Wally Moon homered in the second, but Johnny Callison then squared it for the Phils with a two-run homer in the third inning off winner Don Drysdale.

Southpaw Mike McCormick, whom new Giant Manager Al Dark had exempted from relief work earlier this spring, was hustled in to face left-handed hitter Virdon in the ninth after the Pirates had put the tying runs on base against Stu Miller with two out. Virdon cramed McCormick's first pitch. Sad Sam Jones started for the Giants, but left in a two-run sixth. Willie McCovey batted in two runs and Orlando Cepeda drove in three, and each belted solo homers, off Pirate starter Bob Friend. Elroy Face was the winner.

The Cardinals, blanked on two hits for seven innings, scored the tying run in the eighth off Spahn on Hal Smith's triple and a pinch single by Bob Nieman. Spencer's shot then put it away. Lindy McDaniel pitched three hitless innings and gained the decision in relief of Ernie Broglio, who gave up four hits, one was Ed Mathews

Cincinnati collected 14 hits off loser Glen Hobbie and three relievers with Post's three-run homer breaking a 1-1 tie in the third. Jim O'Toole was the winner with a four-hitter.

Loys Hamptons

Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Loys Hampton celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house at their home in Oakhaven on Sunday, April 9. The couple has four children, all living here. They are Mrs. Eugene Collums, Joe Hampton, Miss Peggy Hampton, and Donald Hampton. They also have two granddaughters.

Eugene Collums and Joe Hampton greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the honored couple. Mrs. Loys Hampton, attired in a pale yellow frock, pinned a purple-throated white orchid at her shoulder. Miss Peggy Hampton invited the guests into the room where the many lovely gifts were displayed. In the dining room the table was overlaid with a lace cloth and was centered with an arrangement of white, purple, and yellow Dutch irises. An anniversary cake decorated with pink tangerines, "25," also graced the table. Mrs. Joe Hampton and Mrs. Eugene Collums served the punch and cake squares decorated with pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Eugene Collums made pictures of the house party, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rowe played soft recorded music throughout the entertainment. About 80 guests called during the appointed hours, including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of Texarkana.

DOROTHY DIX

Know-It-All A Tightwad Too

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My problem is a know-it-all husband. Even when wrong he thinks he is still right. He says I can't manage money and won't let me pay any of the bills. The only thing I ever bought our year-old daughter was a stroller paid for with money I was able to hold back. Fifty dollars runs through his fingers like water. Other than this he is sweet, loving and wonderful with me and the baby. The only thing he won't do for us is spend money. When I say so, he laughs.

—Anonymous
Dear Anonymous: As a rule, wives are better managers than husbands. But most men, to assert their male superiority, like to hold the purse strings. Any woman who keeps house, brings up children and looks after her husband, certainly has a right to manage the home—including paying the bills—without interference. That's her job, just as her husband's work is his. What's more, when there's a surplus, she deserves her share. I wish more wives would speak up.

Dear Helen: We are three girls of 14 with very strict and old-fashioned parents. We were invited to a chaperoned house party the night following our school dance. Our parents said we were too young to go out twice a week. Were they right? How do you explain to the boy who asked you that you're too young to go out that often? How can we prove we are not too young? —Unsocialites

Dear Unsocialites: Your parents are right. Tell the boy the truth. He will respect you all the more. Don't push the calendar. Before you know it you'll be wishing time would stand still. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "What Age for Dating?"

Dear Helen: Did I make a mistake in letting my son marry at 16? He will be 17 next week and is a sophomore in high school. Now he wants to quit school. My husband says he should look for a job and support his family. They have a seven-months baby and have only been married a month. I had to give my consent to the marriage. Our son lives at his mother-in-law's. We're willing and happy to give him and his family a home too. What do you suggest? Should he continue school? —Worried Mother.

Dear Worried Mother: This is a typical teen-age marriage problem. Instead of two, you parents now have three children on your hands. Talk to the principal of the high school your son attends. It is important that the boy equip himself for some sort of a job and that he won't do if he leaves school at 17. Would it be possible for you and your husband and the girl's parents to finance the youngsters until your son completes his schooling?

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available.

Red Wings Aim to Even Playoffs

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's banged-up Red Wings, claiming they are every bit as hungry as the Chicago Black Hawks, aim to square the Stanley Cup championship playoffs on their home ice tonight.

Trailing the rugged Black Hawks two-to-one in the best-of-seven, all-United States series, the Red Wings are looking forward to the faster ice at Olympia.

Neither team has been able to win away from home in the playoffs. The Black Hawks hope to break up this home ice domination and put an end to the series in Chicago Friday.

Detroit Coach Sid Abel, troubled because of injuries, was complaining about the slowness of the ice in Chicago Stadium Monday when the Hawks hammered out a 3-1 victory.

Abel called it the worst ice he has ever seen and answered Chicago Coach Rudy Pilous' remarks of the Hawks being hungry.

of defenseman Marcel Pronovost who suffered a foot injury before Detroit's 3-1 victory at Olympia Saturday night.

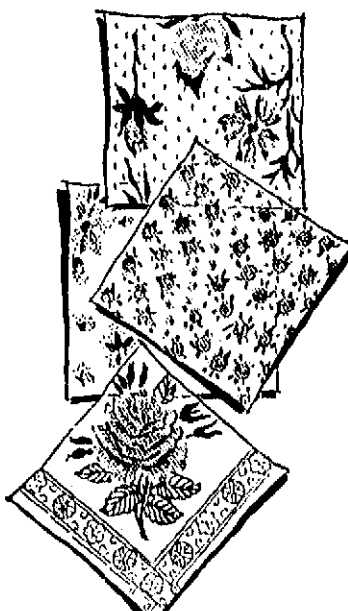

In addition to Pronovost, Warren Godfrey and goalie Terry Sawchuk have been injured in the series. Godfrey suffered a bruised knee Monday night and it is doubtful he will be ready tonight. Sawchuk injured his left shoulder in the series opener in Chicago last week but is ready to play.

Celtics Take Pro Title Over Hawks

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—The old pro Boston Celtics—schoolboy happy and professionally proud—today reign from the high position they have held for three years, champions of the National Basketball Association.

"Fantastic, fabulous," Coach Red Auerbach beamed at his champions after their 121-112 victory over St. Louis Tuesday night eliminated the gallant Hawks four game to one in the best-of-seven final playoff.

"We're the greatest," Auerbach shouted into the confusion of the screaming, crowded dressing room. As usual, it was a team effort. But as usual, it was keyed by the great Bill Russell and the incomparable Bob Cousy.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 post man and the league's most valuable player, scored 30 points—22 of them in the first half as Boston struggled to a 62-61 intermission—and hauled down 38 rebounds.

Cousy, the veteran backcourt man who wears the label "Mr. Basketball," scored 18 points, 13 of them in Boston's third-quarter burst that broke open the game, and contributed 12 assists.

The Coz, who played 42 minutes on the dead run in Boston's lung-straining fast break, collapsed after the game and took no part in the victory celebration.

"Russell was fantastic," St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour said. "He kept them alive in that first half. He gave them life. Thirty-eight rebounds. And then that third quarter. That did it."

The third-quarter spurt, in which Boston outscored St. Louis 37-23, gave the Celtics a 15-point lead and apparently put it out of reach. But the Hawks came clawing back.

Moved by the scoring prowess of Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit, who had 26 and 24 points respectively, St. Louis closed to within five points before Cousy, Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and Sam Jones finished the job.

Twins Take Yanks' Angels Trip Orioles

BY TED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The wrong teams got off on the right foot Tuesday as the American League completed its opening schedule. The Minnesota Twins, with Pedro Ramos allowing just three singles, beat the pennant favored New York Yankees 6-0, and the new Los Angeles Angels, behind the six-hit pitching of Eli Grba, tripped Baltimore's hopeful Orioles 7-2.

Cleveland took off a running with a 9-5 decision at Detroit, and Kansas City smacked the Boston Red Sox 5-2. The White Sox and Washington, who opened Monday, were idle.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Philadelphia 6-2 in the lone night game after the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates had edged San Francisco 8-7 and the St. Louis Cardinals had beaten Milwaukee 2-1 in 10 innings. Cincinnati rapped Chicago's Cubs 7-1.

Ramos, who lost 18 and won but 11 last season, walked just one man and struck out five while putting away the second three-hitter of his career and the first opening day shutout suffered by the Yankees in eight years.

Grba, never a winner against the Orioles in two seasons with the Yankees, squared his major league record at 9-9 after getting all the backing he needed from Ted Kluszewski. Big Klu walked a pair of home runs and drove in five runs as the Angels counted three runs in the first and four in the second against loser Mill Pappas and John Papa, a 21-year-old right-hander making his major league debut. Bob Cerv also homered for the Angels.

A six-run second inning, with three unearned, wrapped it up for the Indians and Jim Perry, who went all the way with a seven-hitter. Bubba Phillips hit a two-run homer for the Indians, who had 18 hits—four each by Vic Power and Jimmy Piersall and two by ex-Giant Willie Kirkland. Jim Bunning was the loser.

Ray Herbert allowed only six hits, but needed relief by Don Larsen and a mop-up save by Bud Daley as the A's defeated the Red Sox at Boston. Four Red Sox errors led to four unearned runs for Kansas City with Herbert bringing in the first two with a second-inning single. Bill Monbouquette was the loser.
